WASHINGTON, July 10.—Signed and approved by President Roosevelt in high terms, the cotton textile code today was a reality, first of the codes to be promulgated under the "new deal" in industry. It goes into effect July 17.

Pointing to the significance of the event, President Roosevelt said:
"Child labor in this industry is here abolished. After years of fruitless effort and discussion, this ancient atrocity went out in a day, because this law permits employers to do by agreement that which none of them could do separately and live in competition."

"In the eyes of the whole public there was a great conference among the very leaders of our industry, labor and social service, presided over by government. It considered the most controverted question in (Continued On Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

C. Morgan of 615 Raymond street reports to Pa New that he has two ripe tomatoes in his garden. They are the Early Anna variety, being about medium size.

Indications are that the parking location for the new P. & L. E. bus operating from the public square to the Seventh ward station, will have to be changed from directly in front of the waiting room, to a point further east on the public square. Parking the bus directly at the intersection is going to provide a traffic hindrance of no small proportions, it was evident on Sunday.

Good news is now coming from the Frizzleburg district of the county. Telephones are being re-installed and electric current is being turned on again in many homes of that section of the county as business improves. And the best report of all is that there is a scarcity of harvest hands in that section.

The recent rain here seems to be doing wonders to gardens in this city. There have been some reports at The News of ripe tomatoes already. But Rocco El Di Gennero of 928 South Mill street appears to have an edge on most of the amateur gardeners here. He reported this morning of having numerous ripe tomatoes of one pound and 1 1/4 pound sizes in his garden.

Big Increase In Steel Orders

U. S. Steel Corporation Report Shows Gain Of 176,856 Tons

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 10.—Unfilled orders on the books of the U. S. Steel corp. on June 30, rose 176,856 tons to a total of 2,106,671 tons, the corporation announced at noon today.

The gain was far larger than Wall Street had anticipated, estimates having run between 80,000 and 100,000 tons. It was in addition the biggest monthly rise in the backlog since the close of 1930.

The rise occurred during a period of advancing scheduled for the industry. Steel operations gained 10 per cent during June, rising from 43 per cent of capacity at the end of May to 53 per cent at the close of last month.

The backlog at the end of June crossed the same month last year for the first time since the start of the depression.
The June upturn was the third successive increase after months of falling backlogs. Unfilled orders rose 65,000 tons in May, until then the biggest rise in many months.

MRS. GEORGE FERVER GARDEN CLUB SPEAKER

MADALENE MARLIN AND ALLIQUIPPA MAN WED

The Lawrence County Garden club and those clubs with which it is affiliated and the Youngstown Garden Club shared in a meeting held Saturday afternoon when they were entertained by the New Bedford Garden Club at the home of Mrs. Colin Campbell, who extended delightful hospitality.

It was the annual County Day Meeting and was attended by seventy-five guests.

When routine work had been completed, Mrs. George Ferver of Hubbard, O., guest speaker for the occasion, was introduced. She resided in Japan for a period of ten years and was prepared to give first hand information on the "Gardens of Japan" that proved most entertaining. She told of the customs and manner of gardening and of the training of little children at the age of three and four years old to arrange flowers. Also, she went into detail as to why gardens in Japan are enclosed and arranged only to suit the eyes of the house occupants and not those of the public. Gardens there are planted to the rear of the home.

Another interesting feature was the excellent demonstration of the propagation of the delicate Madonna Lilies given by Mrs. Herman Brandtmiller of Canfield, O. This was performed in the Campbell gardens.

The hostess club served cooling refreshments.

Successfully culminating the Gulf-Ford economy test with the announcement that the Ford V-8 had averaged 20.3 miles per gallon of Gulf gasoline on its 10,000 miles continuous running, final ceremonies were held Friday with an auto caravan parade through the streets of Pittsburgh.

Both the Gulf Refining Company and the Ford Motor Company participated in this parade.

Several outstanding features were revealed for the first time. The Gulf economy car averaged 20.3 miles per gallon of gasoline. Consumption of oil was extremely low. Not a drop of water was added to the radiator during the 10,000-mile trip. Three drivers negotiated the entire distance. Not a single mechanical repair was necessary.

The record achieved was particularly noteworthy since the route chosen was hard. Fogs and mountain roads were encountered throughout. Traffic and other obstacles had to be overcome.

An average of 48 miles an hour was kept during the test. One-minute stops only were allowed the car.

V-8 Travels 10,000 Miles
With Average of 20.3

Oil

Successfully culminating the Gulf-Ford economy test with the announcement that the Ford V-8 had averaged 20.3 miles per gallon of Gulf gasoline on its 10,000 miles continuous running, final ceremonies were held Friday with an auto caravan parade through the streets of Pittsburgh.

Both the Gulf Refining Company and the Ford Motor Company participated in this parade.

Several outstanding features were revealed for the first time. The Gulf economy car averaged 20.3 miles per gallon of gasoline. Consumption of oil was extremely low. Not a drop of water was added to the radiator during the 10,000-mile trip. Three drivers negotiated the entire distance. Not a single mechanical repair was necessary.

The record achieved was particularly noteworthy since the route chosen was hard. Fogs and mountain roads were encountered throughout. Traffic and other obstacles had to be overcome.

An average of 48 miles an hour was kept during the test. One-minute stops only were allowed the car.

GUNS AND CRIME

AMERICA'S crime wave which recently has been marked by several spectacular major acts of violence has caused revival of agitation for laws making it illegal for any person except peace officers to carry or possess firearms.

The belief by those who advocate this method of dealing with the crime problem is based upon a superficial view of conditions, as frequently has been pointed out in the past, and one that does not take into account all of the elements involved. A law of this kind would be effective in disarming law-abiding citizens, but it would have only a limited effect upon the criminal element. Those who make their living by violence would find means to obtain firearms, and it would not be very difficult for them to do this.

New York has a law making the possession of a pistol by anyone except a peace officer or specially licensed private citizen a felony. There has been apparently a real effort made to enforce this act known as the Sullivan law. But does anyone believe the law has served to reduce crimes in which guns play a part? Any daily reading of New York newspapers will contradict such a view. Murders and holdups continue to occupy a big place in the state's crime records.

There does seem to be one point, however, where a new law might be applied with beneficial results. The wide and increasing use of machine guns by criminals might be curbed by limiting the manufacture of these weapons to the government and taking proper precautions against their coming into the hands of criminals. Machine guns are not used in game hunting. They are not carried by private citizens as a defense against robbers and other criminals. There is no legitimate need on the part of private citizens for them.

OFF WITH THE OLD, ON WITH THE NEW

Hollywood has been enjoying a real sensation. Announcement by Mary Pickford—"America's Sweetheart"—that a separation or divorce from her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, is in prospect, was enough to set the town on edge. Here was a couple supposed to be immune from the hysteria that has prevailed in the motion picture colony. True, years ago both had been married to others and divorced, but Hollywood had long regarded the pair as a fixture. Should Doug and Mary, the Royal Family, the King and Queen of Movieland, part company, what might not happen? And so Hollywood is agog with excitement.

Hollywood bulks large in the public prints for the looseness of its morals. Off with the old love, on with the new is quite the accepted and expected thing. Not that Doug and Mary are of this class. They are not emphatically the Philadelphia Inquirer. But Douglas has made his pile and wants adventure abroad—loves to hobnob with dukes and duchesses and titled folk. Mary, who has also made her pile, like her own home. And there you are. Incompatibility.

But with the usual run of marriages, there is nothing sacred about them. They are looked upon as trial matches. If the wife sees someone she prefers to her husband, it is off to Reno for her. Likewise if the husband becomes infatuated with another woman, he also takes to the trail which leads to the severance of the marital bonds. And when the knots are untied and new alliances entered into, they remain "good friends," or tell the world they do.

Hollywood comes to the public eye because it is constantly in the spotlight. What happens there is an approach to free love. The step across the border is but a short one. But the movie people are not sinners above all others by any manner of means. They are seemingly so only because they are conspicuous. If marriages followed by divorce and the desire for a change of partners were not so alarmingly prevalent, Reno and similar foul spots could not exist.

The United States is not only crime-ridden because of the activities of organized gangsters, but it is divorce-ridden. In this respect it is becoming Russianized.

One of these days—perhaps—the country will awaken to the fact and demand a constitutional amendment giving congress authority to enact uniform divorce laws which will put an end to these lightning shifts and their downright indecencies. It is sorely needed.

SECURING COAT OF TAN

We're certainly going in strong for sunshine. The evidence is only too plain. Everywhere this summer are men, women and children going about with as little clothing as the law allows—or less.

Legislation has a hard time keeping up with the sun tan craze, and the police are helpless. Bathing beaches and adjacent thoroughfares and picnic grounds suggest the happy, naive, idyllic life of African savages or indigenous Indians.

We have found our place in the sun. If we keep it up, eventually we shall be dyed a permanent color. Query: Which color will it be—black, brown or red? History suggests red, because that is the effect prolonged exposure in this climate had on our predecessors.

Anyway, we have a new, scientific sun cult. Time was when a coat of tan was something to be ashamed of, and to remove furtively with lemon juice, buttermilk or what not. Now it's something to display and brag about.

It's all wholesome, when practiced within reason. But if we're going to worship Apollo again, we might do well to recognize a veiled and forgotten truth in the old mythology. Far-darting Apollo, God of Healing, was also the Destroyer. His light-arrows cure or kill.

Beware of overdoses. Sunburn may bring serious illness. Too much light, doctors say, is bad particularly in sinus cases. Better protect eyes and forehead.

COPELAND SHOULD WAIT

Senator Copeland, chairman of a senate subcommittee which will investigate racketeering in New York, is quoted as saying it is "inconceivable" that politics and racketeering are linked in that state.

The senator would have done well to withhold his views until the probe had been completed. He may or may not be right. Only a thorough investigation can determine the question. And it should not be hampered at the outset by the assumption of the committee's chairman that there is nothing to probe.

New York certainly has racketeering. It also has quite a bit of corrupt politics. We don't believe the senator would be likely to deny either of these statements. It has been revealed in other cities, notably in Chicago, that racketeering and political corruption usually join hands. Each can aid the other. If a union or working arrangement has not been effected in New York, an unusual situation exists.

Let the committee, however, decide the question, and not any individual member.

LADY! LADY! don't be like that. Don't fuss at that young man, don't nag at him just because you're a girl now, and any big girl knows that honey draws more flies than vinegar. Be smart, be clever, be charming.

(I'm standing in a window on the second floor, and I see it all. I'm looking down and I see you and that handsome young fellow coming along the sidewalk. . . . You reach the curb and just as he's about to step into the street you grab him and save his life. A big truck was coming and he didn't see it. You did, but he doesn't look too grateful. . . . I'm afraid you're one of these pretty, strong-minded, decisive young women. . . . You'd better be careful.)

Now you're at it again. . . . You're telling him things. You're laying down some sort of law to him, advising him, warning him, pointing out his weaknesses, his errors. . . . I see you. You're using that pretty long finger of yours, poking him half a dozen times in his manly chest. . . . It gets his goat, he's embarrassed. He loves you, but he wishes you weren't so dominating. . . . I fear for you, I tremble for your happiness. . . . Watch your step!

He moves away a few feet. You follow him. You look up at him, pleading a bit with your nice red mouth and your lovely eyes. (Ah! that's better. . . . You smile. It's a charming smile. . . . That's better still. . . . He smiles back. He says something. . . . But now you pout. (It's not a pretty pout.) You look a bit sulen. You hold him by one lapel of his coat. (I'm sure that young fellow feels desperate.) . . . What chances you are taking. (Your mother should have warned you.) Smile! smile at him. (Do you want him, or don't you? Make up your mind.)

Ah! she smiled (she really did). A wide delicious smile, and her eyes sparkled and her whole face awoke—and that young fellow, right there on the public street, leaned over swiftly and gave her a kiss. And she clung to him for one-thousandth of a split second and smiled again. . . . And she went one way and he went another and I could tell by the way she walked that she didn't have a pout on her face. . . . There, young lady, didn't I tell you?

A New York stenographer caused the arrest of a young man who she said followed her for three blocks on the street, and tried to flirt with her.

The magistrate before whom the case came up, after hearing the evidence, requested the girl to sentence the offender. She took her seat on the judicial bench, and imposed on the masher a penalty of two days in the workhouse. The magistrate confirmed this sentence, and remarked that it was a milder one than he himself would have given.

The magistrate is right. Two days in the workhouse will afford temporary relief from this sort of a pest. It would take at least a month to effect a cure.

TODAY'S STORYETTE
A struggling artist was noted for three things: his scarcity of cash, his short temper and his nerve. One day while seated at the breakfast table at his club, a debt collector, who some way or other had managed to get past the hall porter, arrived and presented his bill.

"Sir," snapped the artist, glaring hard at the man, "is this all you know of the usage of decent society? To present a bill to a man breakfasting? Are you aware, sir, that you are an intruder in this club? Do you know also that if I wish I could call the servants of the club and have you thrown out? Now, sir, if you wish to talk business with me, go outside and present your card to the hall porter."

The nervous little man went outside and presently the hall porter arrived with a card on a salver. The artist picked it up and read the name.

"Tell the gentleman," he said, "that I am not in."

The days of the big purses are over, for a considerable time at least. Sharkey will be fortunate if he averages $25,000 out of his battles. He has done fairly well financially and can well afford to quit the boxing game which he never liked. Personally, he is an agreeable and likable person and a good citizen.

Perhaps it is fitting the heavyweight champion should be a giant. Two hundred and 60 pounds of bone and muscle are powerful assets against which a 200-pound man can prevail but rarely, if the giant has real skill in boxing as Carnera has.

"Frequently, if the entire class makes a good showing at a lesson, the teacher passes around cigarettes, whereupon the boys and girls light up and go on with their studies in a cloud of smoke."

Our system here is better. Our high school boys and girls are not permitted to smoke in the classroom. They must wait until recess or after school hours to indulge in cigarettes.

Our educators have found out that when pupils smoke in the classroom, the smoke gets into their eyes, and they can't see what they are studying.

Postal Failure Recognized With Single Penny As Cause

Public Approves Decision To Restore Local Letter Rate To Two Cents And Believes President Will Establish Old Rate For All Mail

Action of Congress in restoring the two-cent letter rate for local mail is believed by the public to be good business policy for the government, in addition to being commendable accommodation for users of the post office service. It is also suggested that, under persuasive legislation, it is likely that President Roosevelt will restore the old two-cent rate for all mail, as figures show that three-cent mail has not been successful.

"The penny's difference may seem trivial," according to the ROCKFORD REGISTER-REPUBLIC, "yet to concerns which formerly spent thousands of dollars annually for postage, it became an item of considerable importance. It is no wonder, then, that they sought to effect economies, with heavy loss to the government. Perhaps the lesson taught by this experiment with the little copper penny contains a moral for all tax-paying and tax-exempting bodies. It tends to prove that there is a limit beyond which the public will not and cannot pay." THE COLUMBIA (S. C.) RECORD agrees that "the three-cent argument did not pan out," and holds that "the reduced local mail rate may not work, but the odds are in favor of its working," and it "at least recognizes the fact, that the law of diminishing returns applies to government levies as well as to private business charges."

"One of the first lessons a business man is to learn," advises the YONKONTOW VINDICATOR, "is how to price his product. If his business is such that he must have a large number of customers, he will make the price as low as possible. . . . The Post Office Department now seems to have learned this lesson." That paper wonders "if the utilities will now return to the old way and use the mail," and concludes: "As for the rest of us, we shall have to stop and consider, whenever we have a number of letters to mail, which will take a red stamp and which a purple."

Existence of the two rates inspires a word of caution from the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, which suggests that "it will not be pleasant to have the postman present a letter from New York or Chicago with a two-cent stamp on it, and demand an additional penny or one-cent stamp before delivery." The Evening Star adds that "one effect of the new rate—or the old rate restored—for the local delivery letters will be the necessity of keeping two kinds of stamps at hand."

One phase of the difficulty for thoughtful persons is brought out by the SAN ANTONIO EVENING NEWS, with the statement: "Two sets of rates for letters—after a single rate has been in effect for many years—will be confusing, at best. For example—as the local authorities have pointed out—2 cents will use a letter 20 miles from this city to Leon Springs, while 3 cents will be required to take it 10 miles to Elmhurst. One community is served by rural carrier, the other by its own postoffice. Such inconsistencies, which doubtless will be found all over the country, as early as practicable should be eliminated."

"The Post Office Department," thinks the BALTIMORE EVENING SUN, "has made the mistake of forcing the development of competition, and that competition, once developed, cannot be conjured away with a wave of the hand." THE NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICTAYUNE suspects that "many will fall to note the change in the rate," but as herald of possible further reductions, this cut deserves notice and salutation." THE KEOKUK DAILY GATE CITY believes that "the main point of importance is that it is a wise concession to public opinion and to public convenience." THE CHARLOTTE OBSERVER states that "the sponsors of the two-cent local rate argue that it will create more than enough red-inked diversion from third class to first class, and more than enough return to the postal system of letters now being delivered by hand, to counterbalance the reduction of rate."

If the postal receipts from this class are considerably less, says the PORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM, "there will likely be other reductions." That paper finds it interesting to note that "postal receipts (Continued On Page Five)

There is no racketeering in Canada. There were no bank failures in Canada, and since 1929 there has been no execution in Ottawa, Canada, until recently, when William Seabrooke was hanged for murder.

Instead of "playing up" this execution with scare heads and sensational stories, arousing morbid interest and working on the feelings of the public, the newspapers in Ottawa agreed to suppress all mention of it, with the exception of an inconspicuous news item of 200 words giving the bare details.

During the three months between the conviction of Seabrooke and the carrying out of the sentence his name was not mentioned in any newspaper in the city. The United States might learn something from Canada if our people were not so comfoundedly egotistical.

OVERDOING HOSPITALITY
Many women make guests uncomfortable in their efforts to be entertaining.

Then they are too effusive, so much so that there is an evident lack of sincerity.

The welcoming smile of certain hostesses is so artificial that it chills instead of warming those upon whom it is lavished.

Fitting around from one group to another constantly is tiresome. It is so much more delightful to visit the calm hostess, easy and free from extravagant enthusiasm in efforts to entertain.

The well poised hostess puts her guests at ease. She presents an example of calm, encouraging hospitality, drawing out the best from her guests and anticipating their wishes without seemingly to be too watchful.

You have been entertained in homes where favorable impressions of a sincere and lovely hostess cling for a long time after a visit.

But oh, the flutterbutter kind. None is at ease after crossing the threshold.

Always too solicitous, always anxious over the success of her party. Such women seek popularity but frustrate their own wishes by overdoing the matter.

We heard a woman say this morning that she has been having considerable trouble in getting good bread. Some of the stuff he'd around town is baked in lard, and hauled in hot trucks to Castle. If New Castle bakers were employed and the industry was kept at home, where it belongs, there would be no trouble in getting good fresh bread. How much bread could New Castle bakers sell in Youngstown, Pittsburgh or Cleveland?

A large part of the Mahoning-town Boy Scout group of 20 who went to Camp Phillips a week ago returned to their homes here Saturday.

The scouts returned home tanned and enthusiastic about their week of camp life at Kennedy's Mills. They had a fine time, got in lots of swimming and ground sports, learned a lot about outdoor cooking and woodcraft. The local boys took a prominent part in all the camp activities.

Norval Hockman and several others are staying for a second week.

Father Ippolito has been in Italy since concluding his ten years of service in this city.

He expects to spend some time in Pittsburgh and will visit New Castle.

In May began to reflect improved business conditions." The PORT HURON TIMES HERALD emphasizes the fact that "there is a limit to what the President may do," for "he must not make a reduction in first-class rates below the old two-cent rate, and whatever changes he makes must be in this fiscal year only." The LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL feels sure that the further change will be made by the President.

"The three-cent rate," according to the HARTFORD TIMES, "has been tried twice within fifteen years and each time it has proved unsatisfactory as a revenue producer. In November, 1917, the government adopted the higher rate and continued it for twenty months. During that period it brought $116,000,000 added income to the Federal Treasury. This was an increase at the rate of $70,000,000 a year, an admittedly small gain in total postal receipts of about $700,000,000. In the twelve months following June, 1919, when the two-cent rate was again in use the receipts were approximately the same as for the preceding year under the three-cent rate. This was pretty conclusive evidence that the higher rate does not serve its purpose."

"Most of the period during which the experiment has been in effect," avers the HAVERHILL GAZETTE, "has been one of severe depression. Thus, it is not improbable that the three-cent rate maintained postal receipts on a higher level than would have been possible under the two-cent rate, because of the decline in postal business that had no connection with the rate. And, also, it is not improbable that postal receipts would have increased during the coming year under the three-cent rate. Indeed, they are already increasing."

"Keeping at work thousands of postal employees who might otherwise have to be furloughed without pay" is one possible effect which is seen by the OSHKOSH DAILY NORTHWESTERN.

STEADY SMOKERS TURN TO CAMELS

"A man can't fence his best unless his nerves are healthy," says George Santelli. "Fencing is one of the fastest sports there is—you've got to keep your reflexes and nerves in perfect condition. As a coach, I have fencing appointments from seven-thirty in the morning until ten or eleven at night. I can enjoy as many Camels as I want and still know that my nerves are ready and fit when fast action is needed."

Camels, with their costlier tobaccos, give a pleasure that never fades. Steady smokers find them always mild...cool...pleasing. They do not fray the nerves or leave a "cigarette" aftertaste. Start smoking Camels today—for the new enjoyment you will find in a milder cigarette—for the sake of your nerves.

Council Will Look At Legal Side Of Project

To Discuss Improvement
Proposals With City
Solicitor
DELAY ORDINANCES AT SESSION TODAY

Council and Solicitor Robert White will meet informally soon and discuss the legal phases surrounding the proposal of the city to make improvements here under the provisions of the federal recovery act. Recently council compiled a list of anticipated improvements providing the city could obtain a grant of 15 per cent and a loan of 30 percent. It was estimated the entire cost would be approximately $300,000.

White told the council at the meeting today in city hall that he had prepared all of the bills necessary to do what the city proposed to do.

In one bill, none of which were introduced, the loan figure was set at $350,000, and the grant at $150,000. It was explained, however, that these figures were high. Proposed jobs will cost over $300,000. He said that the loan would have to be paid back to the federal government and that an annual tax would be necessary. He told council that indications were the 1934 tax millage would be increased.

During the session White was asked by Councilman Trester, as to White's opinion concerning the national act and he said that in his opinion it was unconstitutional.

He said there were some plans which could be worked out which would result in the improvements being started and men being employed, if council desired.

It was pointed out that the city could borrow from the government against back taxes, which caused Councilman Davies to inform colleagues that the council is not yet ready for the ordinances prepared to be introduced.

He said that while council has discussed the proposed improvements they had not met informally with White relative to the legal phases of the movement and council decided that this should be done before the bills were introduced.

Fifty New Castle Girl Scouts have made reservations for the first week of Girl Scout camp at Camp Phillips next month, and no more may sign up for this period, according to announcement this morning.

Only two vacancies remain in New Castle's quota for the second week of camp. When these are filled, the registration will automatically be closed.

New Castle will have fifty girls for the first week and fifty girls for the second. The Sharon Girl Scout organization has been privileged to share the camp this year and will send the same number of girls, fifty both weeks.

Twenty-eight Girl Scouts from out-of-town places, such as East Brady, Clarion, etc., have asked to attend the New Castle Girl Scout camp this year but have been refused, there being no accommodations for them. In case Sharon does not fill its quota, the other requests will be honored. This is a remote possibility, however, because Sharon always has a large crowd of campers and this August will probably be no exception.

Forest Army Saves Village

Two Hundred Aid In Battle Against Flames At Strattonville

CLARION, BROOKVILLE FIREMEN ALSO AID

STRATTONVILLE, Pa., July 10.—Prompt response on Sunday of 200 forest army boys at Deans Dam, four miles out on the Fisher road, and help of fire companies from Clarion, New Bethlehem and Brookville, saved this Clarion county town from possible devastation when flames swept a block at Main street and Fourth avenue, imperiled the Methodist church and Strattonville school and spread to a half dozen structures.

Loss today was put at $15,000 to $18,000, with insurance covering half that amount. The fire started in a garage where passenger automobiles belonging to Arden and Glenn Cummings were stored, spread quickly to the corner property of Theodore Hannold, sweeping a barn and small building, and as quickly engulfed the larger building nearby occupied by Helen Rupert, Richard Burchfield and John O'Neill.

The fire area was in the heart of the town on the Lakes-to-Sea highway. Properties bordering on the thoroughfare soon had their roofs afire. Calls for help were answered four minutes after Captain Bortran at the Civilian Conservation Corps camp got word. Every available truck was loaded to capacity with forest army boys and speeded to the scene. Fire companies strung hose to every well in the vicinity and put pumps to work.

Ralph Clover, 21, suffered a sprained back, and Francis Walker, forest army recruit, had his coat burned from his back. Several others suffered minor burns and injuries.

Forty-eight hours leave was granted the forest army boys for their work in helping check the blaze.

Judging from the western movies the mining town sheriff has to be near enough to the culprit to slap on a pair of handcuffs before the lasso will work.

Knights St. Vitus And Auxiliary Hold Big Outing Sunday

Affair Is Preceded By Ninth Quarterly Communion Observance

Sunday was an occasion of unusual interest and importance to the members of the Knights of St. Vitus and the ladies' auxiliary of that organization and their families and their friends.

First of all the 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning the Knights of St. Vitus joined together in their ninth quarterly communion and were accompanied on this occasion by the members of the ladies' auxiliary.

Two hundred and fifty men and women took part. Rev. Fr. N. DeMita, the pastor of the church, was in charge of the mass and communion and was assisted by Rev. Fr. Clarence of St. Fidelis.

Immediately following the mass and communion service, the members of the two organizations and their families adjourned to Castle Beach, where they spent the entire day. More than 500 took part in the outing, which was the third annual event of the Knights of St. Vitus.

Swimming, games and athletic events were the diversions of the occasion. During the mushball games and athletic events, the Croton band played a fine program of music.

The married men's team won from the single men's team by the score of 20 to 10. The game was featured by the two home runs of Frank Mack. Augustine and Marino also made home runs.

Carm Sacco, president of the Knights of St. Vitus, acted as general chairman of the event, while Joe Factor was chairman of the entertainment committee and Buddy Marino of the athletic committee.

Winners in the various athletic events were as follows:

Fifty-yard dash for boys under 12, Benjie DeCarlo; 50-yard dash for girls under 12, Grace Capitolo; 100-yard dash for boys 12-14, Fred Rozzi; 100-yard dash for men, George DeRobbio; 100-yard dash for girls, 10-16, Antoinetta Isabella; 75-yard dash for fat men, Joe Factor; tug-of-war, won by married men from the single men; tug-of-war, won by married women from single women. The married men by winning the mushball contest won three watermelons and had quite a time feasting on them. Picnic dinner and supper were enjoyed by the entire group.

Final acceptances for enrollment in the six citizens' military training camps which open Tuesday in the Third Corps Area indicate a maximum attendance of approximately 1,650 students, for which funds are provided this year. Due to the heavy curtailment in funds, enrollment was restricted to blue and white course students who attended camps last year and a limited number of red or second year candidates. The latter will number about 300 in comparison to the 1,300 normally enrolled for camp.

Distribution of candidates by number in the various camps:

Fort George G. Meade, infantry 514, signal corps 92.

Fort Washington, infantry 213.

Fort Howard, infantry 211.

Fort Monroe, coast artillery, 172.

Fort Myer, cavalry 99.

Fort Hoyle, field artillery 337.

A total of 1,638, with 36 remaining to be heard from.

Shortage Of 150 Veterans Below Quota Assigned To Pennsylvania

BALTIMORE, July 10.—Enrollment of veterans in the civilian conservation corps from the Third Corps Area closed Thursday with reports received at corps area headquarters today showing a total of 2,579 shipped to the conditioning camp at Fort George G. Meade.

Reports from the various recruiting stations show that 833 out of 9,606 veterans certified by the veterans bureau failed to report, and 188 were turned down on preliminary examination.

Included in the shipments to Fort Meade were 36 certified direct by the veterans bureau in Washington as enrolled-at-large and not charged against the corps area quota of 2,675. Maryland was the only state in the corps area to complete its quota, sending 325 to the conditioning camp. Shortages from the other subdivisions were as follows: Pennsylvania 150, Virginia 145, District of Columbia 1, a total shortage of 296.

Few Counties Have Failed To Match Mothers Aid Fund

Only Nine Counties In State Are Not Giving Aid To Widowed Mothers

HARRISBURG, July 10.—Central offices of the mothers' assistance fund report that all but nine participating counties have already matched the state's allocations for the coming two years. Of the counties which have not yet come under the wire Clearfield and Fayette have been forced to drop out because of local financial difficulties. There are eight counties in the more sparsely settled sections, which have never been organized under provisions of the mothers' assistance fund act.

Counties from which resolutions matching the state allocation have not yet been made are: Adams, Allegheny, Beaver, Cambria, Lackawanna, Luzerne and Philadelphia. Commissioners of Adams and Luzerne counties have agreed to meet allocations smaller than those made by the state, but under the terms of the law this is not possible.

In accordance with the mothers' assistance fund law, in order for a county to obtain its share of the appropriation the county commissioners must sign a resolution in which they agree to match the state allocation dollar for dollar.

Court Refuses To Grant New Trial

Decision Is Handed Down By Judge James A. Chambers In Dobinski Case

In an opinion handed down at court today by Judge Chambers in the case of Joseph and Marie Dobinski against the G. C. Murphy Company, a new trial was refused. This is a case in which Mrs. Dobinski slipped and fell at an entrance to the Murphy store at Ellwood City. It is claimed that the floor had recently been mopped up and that it was due to its wet condition that Mrs. Dobinski fell.

The jury awarded a verdict for Mr. Dobinski in the sum of $25 and to Mrs. Dobinski for $75. Plaintiffs asked for a new trial on the grounds that the verdict was inadequate. The court holds that testimony showed that Mrs. Dobinski saw a boy mopping up the floor as she entered the store, and therefore must have known that the floor was wet when she came out, consequently she is not in the same position to collect damages as she would have been had she not known of the condition of the floor.

Rotarians Hear Oil Man Speak

C. G. Shawd Speakers At Union Meeting Of Club At Castleton

New Castle's Rotarians were told today that in employing men for their businesses the question as to whether a man "will do the job" enters into the picture as much as does the fact that "he can do the job."

C. G. Shawd, personnel director for the Pennzoil Company, Oil City, told the clubmen today the secrets of hiring men and women at Rotary's luncheon in The Castleton. Mr. Shawd was introduced by Rotarian James Evans, local manager of Pennzoil.

Mr. Shawd urged each Rotarian to apply the personnel analysis in his business, defining it as "something which has to do with the life blood of industry." He said large and small businesses alike can benefit by making studies.

Visitors at today's meeting were Rotarians George Womer, Butler and Robert H. Jacobs, Youngstown.

Plan To Test Banking Bill

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—The Pennsylvania Bankers association today began formulating plans to test the constitutionality of the Einstein act passed by the last sessions of the legislature under which banking institutions are required to pay a 4-mill state tax on all interest bearing accounts.

Decision to test the act in the courts was made at a meeting of the council of administration of the association following submission of a report by Walter W. Wilson, president of the First Milton National bank at Milton, Pa., and chairman of the association's committee on rates of interest on deposits.

It was estimated the act would enrich the state coffers by $8,000,000 based on current deposits if its constitutionality is upheld by the state supreme court.

New Trial Refused In Fred White Case

Awarded Verdict Of $505 For Injuries In Falling Off Load Of Hay

In an opinion handed down by Judge James A. Chambers today a new trial is refused in the case of Fred White against Wesley W. Seidel of Ellwood City. Defendant, who is in the coal and building supply business, engaged White to haul two loads of hay from the Duterr farm in Perry township.

When White arrived at the Seidel barn with the first load of hay he found William Edie there to direct him how to unload. The ground was sloping to the barn and White had to back his team while sitting on the load, from which point he could not see the barn opening and relied on Edie to direct him. While backing his wagon upset and White was thrown off and injured.

Suit was brought for damages and the jury awarded the plaintiff a verdict for $505. One of the points involved in the case was whether or not White would come under the workmen's compensation act, or whether his work was "casual" employment. As the case now rests the verdict stands.

The state rehabilitation department is going to finance a vacation so he may qualify as a music teacher. He also plays trombone and xylophone.

State Allocation For Relief Asked

Lawrence County Has Received No Allocation For Some Months

SURPLUS ALMOST USED AT PRESENT

Carrying an appeal for an immediate state allocation for Lawrence county's relief needs, a letter, signed by Dr. G. S. Bennett, head of the county's relief board, was on its way to the State Emergency Relief Committee at Harrisburg today.

Dr. Bennett's letter was addressed to Eric Biddle, the committee's executive director with whom he conferred last week. The allocation asked was not made known.

It became known at the local board's headquarters this morning that funds for Lawrence county's relief program are fast being exhausted, and Chairman Bennett fears that by July 15 the county's money will be entirely used up.

"At the beginning of the month, July 1," Dr. Bennett said, "We had a credit balance of $20,000. By the 15th this will have probably been exhausted."

Lawrence county has received no allocation from the state for several months because a surplus had been established out of the earlier state allotments, but Dr. Bennett's letter today pointed out that that surplus is almost gone.

From the local board and the county's welfare office it has been learned that relief demands are noticeably lighter than the demands of several months ago.

RECOGNIZED CRIMINALS IN U. S. WILL BE LISTED

Big Shots In Underworld To Be Made Known

Anti-Crime Campaign Will List Who's Who In Underworld Of U. S.

READY TO OPEN GIGANTIC DRIVE

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 10.—One of the first moves of Joseph E. Keenan, special assistant to the attorney general in charge of the anti-crime campaign, will be the preparation of a who's who in the underworld.

Steps were under way today to list recognized gangsters, racketeers and other criminals in connection with the coordinated federal-state-municipal drive to end the crime wave which has cost the American public billions of dollars and thousands of lives, since the war.

To Begin Duties

Keenan expected to be ready to begin active duties early this week. He has been sworn into office and fully installed at the department of justice.

That conferences would be held with chief W. H. Moran of the secret service; J. Edgar Hoover, of the bureau of investigation; Elmer E. Irey, chief of the special intelligence section of the internal revenue bureau; H. J. Anslinger, chief of the narcotic bureau; Kildroy P. Aldrich, chief post office inspector and other federal law enforcement agencies, was the understanding.

This group of officials has a more intimate knowledge of the inner workings of the crime rings than any other men in the federal service and furthermore have a wide knowledge of the general crime situation throughout the country.

Will Call Conference

Attorney General Cummings plans to call a conference in Washington of representative chiefs of police and state enforcement officers to enlist their aid in the national drive against criminals.

Local officials will be assured of the wholehearted support of the federal government, although there are many crimes that cannot be approached under federal statutes.

Not only will Keenan proceed against the underworld army with the weapons now in the possession of the federal government, such as the income tax, narcotic, postal, interstate automobile theft, white slave, and smuggling laws, but he will make a careful study of conditions looking to recommendations for additional legislation that may be presented to congress by Cummings next January.

Restrict Sales

Among the first objectives of new laws would be the disarmament of the gangsters and gunmen. Cummings feels that it may be possible to prevent or at least reduce the opportunity for lawless elements to get possession of firearms, particularly machine guns with which wicked vengeance has been wrought time after time, strict regulation of the sale of machine guns and other firearms may be provided by federal law.

In many states already the purchase of firearms is permitted under the law only on showing real necessity, while possession of weapons may be continued only under substantial bond. No official attempted to mitigate the difficulty of the accomplishment of such a purpose but they felt that, backed by the force of public opinion, a real approach might be made to the problem.

Many Undesirables

It was expected that when the list of recognized criminals is prepared they will be segregated to show those fugitive from federal justice and those susceptible of prosecution only under state laws. State officials would be notified of the latter and furnished such information as is in the possession of the bureau of identification, which has probably the greatest collection of finger prints in the world.

Another list probably will be prepared of those known criminals of foreign extraction who are liable for deportation as undesirable aliens. Officials said that list undoubtedly is large and that in many cases deportation proceedings can be prosecuted successfully although it might be difficult to pin any specific crime on the suspects.

Deportation already has been used successfully in many cases.

MANSFIELD, O., July 10.—Medieval chivalry lives in the unromantic prison cell of a young Russian artist at Mansfield reformatory.

Igor Karamanov, 23, of Washington, D. C., the Prince Charming of a princess of the old Czarist regime, today admitted he has asked his princess, a Pasadena, Cal., beauty, to annul their marriage and be happy with another lover while he, a member of a chain gang, grows into middle age serving a sentence for embezzlement.

The princess is Adja Karaman, granddaughter of Russia's famed historian, Leon Karaman, and a true member of Russia's blue-blooded oligarchy of the days before the bloody revolution. She filed annulment action this week at Pasadena.

Still Loves Wife

Karamanov, known in art circles as George Landsman, said he wants "Elana, my beautiful and my lovely," to be happy.

"I want her to marry again," he said, "and forget me."

"Elana to me is still the most beautiful girl in all the world. But she will have a greater chance of finding happiness if she is free of me while I am here."

The two were married in Washington in 1929, after the girl had fled to this country during the ouster of the Romanoffs. Karamanov is serving a sentence for embezzling $22,000 in Cleveland. A sentence of one to 15 years hangs over him. He has been in prison only a year.

Giants Losing Ground Fast In National League

Chicago Cubs And St. Louis Cards are Yelping On Heels Of Giants

PIRATES ARE NOT SO FAR BEHIND

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Packed full of hopes and dreams and tragedies, like one of the immortal operas of old Dick Wagner, the National League pennant race today became a throbbing thriller.

The New York Giants continued to sing the title role and remained in first place, but dropping both ends of a twin bill to the Chicago Cubs on Sunday reduced their lead to three and a half games over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Cubs Moved Up.
The Cubs moved into third place, only four games behind the Giants and with the Pittsburgh Pirates yipping at their heels.

Shut out in the opener 4 to 0 by Lon Warneke, who gave the enemy only six safeties, the Giants lost a heart-breaking nightcap, 2 to 1, with Freddy Fitzsimmons going into the stratosphere and finally throwing his glove in the general direction of 35,000 howling Chicagoans. The mighty Carl Hubbell was Warneke's victim. The chief trouble was Warneke's is that they have been trying to play ball without a competent shortstop. Blondy Ryan, who has been out after a spiking from Joe Medwick at the Polo grounds a week ago, will join the New Yorkers in St. Louis Tuesday and better things certainly no worse—may be expected.

Ruth Hits Three.
That broken-down veteran with the pained feet, over-taxed stomach and weak heart, Mr. George Herman Ruth, cracked three homers for a seasonal total of 22 as the New York Yankees grabbed a double-header 11 to 7 and 7 to 6 from the Detroit Tigers. Ruffing and Van Atta were the successful mound gents.

Washington defeated Cleveland 3 to 2 for the third straight and remained four games in front in the American league grind. Manush got two hits and every member of the Senators a single off Pearson except Sewell.
Dean failed to hold the Brooklyn Dodgers in the 11th inning as the Careymen took the opener from St. Louis, 8 to 6, only to lose the vesper 2 to 0 with Tex Carleton in the role of shut-out hurler. Boyle hit a triple to win for the Dodgers in the extra-inning affair.

Braves Win Two.
The Boston Braves sent the Cincinnati Reds staggering to the side of the cellar hermits, the Phillies, winning a double-header, 3 to 2 in 10 innings and 3 to 1. Cantwell and Frankhouse were the winning pitchers.

George Piggar allowed St. Louis only five hits to win for Boston's Red Sox 4 to 0 but the Brownies captured the second tilt, 9 to 2, Blaholder taking the measure of three Boston hurlers. Scharen got a three-bagger and Reynolds, R. Johnson and Campbell peddled homers.

Other teams were not scheduled.

Muny Caddies Avenge Defeat

Trounce Field Club Caddies In Return Match Played At Municipal Course

Playing on the Municipal Course, Friday, the Muny Caddies avenged the defeat sustained last Wednesday at the Field Club. When they won from the Field Club Caddies by a score of 21-9.

Some good golf was shot by the youngsters, Dave Ferry being medalist with a brilliant 78 for the 18 holes. H. Tosiono and James Pagley, turned in scores of 80 and 82 for the Muny Caddies, while Monst and Cope were low for the Field Club caddies with 82's.

The lineup and scores of the two teams, were as follows:
Municipal Caddies: James Pagley, 82; Dave Ferry, 78; Chuck Perry, 83; H. Tosiono, 80; J. Pagley, 87; Nocer, 90; Coates, 83; W. Tratz, 95.

Homestead Grays Here Wednesday

Universals To Oppose Colored Team At Centennial Field

GAME TO START AT 6:30 O'CLOCK

One of the most famous independent baseball teams in the district will appear here Wednesday at Centennial field when the Homestead Grays oppose the Universal Sanitary club. The game will start promptly at 6:30 o'clock, D. S. T.

The Grays this season have defeated some of the best teams in the district. The aggregation is made up of some of the best colored players in the country. It is unknown at this time who will hurt for the Grays.

The Universals have won five straight games and will be after their sixth win. Manager Thompson may start Lowers, a Stoneboro hurler, against the Grays. George Byak and Mickey Huff, who have been hitting the ball like big leaguers will be in the local lineup.

Another good attraction is in store for local fans next Saturday afternoon here. The Goodyears of Akron, O., will meet the Universals at Centennial field. Plans are being made to bring the first night game ever played here. Jim Thorpe's Indians will likely play here under the lights. The Indians carry their own lights.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Johnny Hannon, Conshohocken, Pa., took the 25 mile auto sweepstakes at Woodbridge, N. J., finishing half a lap ahead of Ball Sall of Paterson, N. J.

Tony Herrera and Lew Raymond are scheduled to box 18 rounds to night at Pittsburgh. On Monday, July 24, Teddy Yarosz and Vince Dundee will box at Pittsburgh for Dundee's middleweight title.

DE HARTS TO PLAY HULMES NET TEAM

De Harts will play Jack Hulmes' tennis team next Saturday at New Wilmington. Hulmes' team is composed of Westminster college students.

Denny Shute Is Quiet Champion

Out Of Nowhere Comes Denny Shute As New British Open Champion

SHINING LIGHT FINALLY NOTICED

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, July 10.—Strangely, almost incredibly, a man has been able to win a major golf championship who is neither a quiet egotist nor a competent, well-mannered blusterer, the fact suggesting that they ought to have him mounted and stuffed and placed under glass where all might come and gaze. He's more than a rarity. He's practically a curio, winning golf and the man-of-destiny business being closely associated.

The result was that Densmore Shute, of Huntington, W. Va., and Columbus, Ohio, and now the comparatively short but very sporting and very beautiful Llanerch Country Club, just outside Philadelphia won the British open on Saturday and it then turned out that a very able golfer had been going about his business so quietly all these years that nobody knew him. They knew a great deal more, for instance, about Craig Wood, the man he beat by five strokes in the play-off.

Not Sensational
Nobody, it seems, can recall anything about him that they thought was worth treasuring. None can rightly remember any circumstance that ever took him, even for a moment, out of his neutral, orderly, orthodox groove. All agree that, now that he has won a big title, Densmore Shute, aged 28, weight almost nothing and as lean as a hitching post, will be a big title golfer henceforth. Innately modest and inclined to be unemotional, he saw no reason to believe his own destiny before. But he can't miss it now. The title will steady, rather than unsettle him. It will give him the faith and belief he rather conspicuously lacked on occasions in the past.

Trinity Men To Hold Golf Meet

Men of Trinity Episcopal church under the auspices of the Men's club of the church will this evening at 6:30 o'clock indulge in a golf competition at the course of the New Castle Field Club.

A record number of men have registered to participate in this event and it is anticipated that it will prove one of the most successful social events of the season.
It is but the first of a series of such competitions for the men of Trinity church and present plans are to have the season end with a competition to determine the season's champion of the group.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!
By ALEX. J. MORRISON
Control Page Association

ALEX. MORRISON says:
Before so much attention was brought to the position of the left hand, the right hand was always upmost in the mind of both instructor and player.

Even now many players seem to think that altering the position of the right hand on the club will overcome such errors as hooking and smothering the ball.
This does little good if the position of the left hand is faulty, for it's this hand that should control the hitting angle of the clubface.

The next time you feel that your hands are out of line turn your left over a bit more and don't bother about your right.

Injuries Hit Mahoning Team

With Hutnic Out, C. Picarro Receives Bad Laceration

MAY PLAY OFF DEADLOCK FRIDAY

Mahoning A. A. and the Tigers will probably play the third game of the Lawrence County league first half championship Friday, it was reported today.

Tentative plans had been made to place the game Wednesday at Centennial field but was shoved back when the Universals signed to play the Homestead Grays.

The regular schedule of the league calls for games Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday and with several Mahoning players injured, Friday, apparently is the only open date available.

Another reason why the game will be set back is due to the injury to Carmen Picarro. A ball took a bad hop at Clifton Flats Saturday, hit Carmen in the face, which required five stitches.

Steve Hutnic, their ace pitcher, also received a hand injury at Centennial field but by Friday the players will probably be in condition to play.

The scheduled league games this week follows:
Tuesday: West Pittsburg at Mahoning; Orrs at P. N. A.; Monarchs at Tigers and Castle Flats at Bessemer.

Thursday: Tigers at Volant; Bessemer at West Pittsburg; Mahoning at Orrs and P. N. A. vs Castle Flats at Clifton Flats.

Saturday: Volant at Monarchs; West Pittsburg vs Castle Flats at

AT FURIOUS PACE(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 10.—Crashing values for the dollar, which slumped to a new low at 88 cents gold, today seized the limelight in otherwise irregular speculative markets.

Sterling led the uprush in foreign currencies, soaring 12½ cents to $4.83½, only 3 cents under the old parity.

The stock market opened on an irregular note and showed considerable profit-taking pressure despite bullish demonstrations in certain groups. The liquor stocks responded to President Roosevelt's appeal to the South to vote for repeal by a brisk rise running to 5 points in National Distillers.

Gold stocks continued to work higher while the packing shares were given another whirl under the leadership of the Armour issues.

The rest of the list was highly irregular with industrials, rails and oils particularly displaying an unsettled undertone though meeting support on the opening reaction.

Cotton reflected the governor's crop curtailment success with a bulge or more than $1 a bale. Grains were mixed, wheat easing and corn showing a firm tone. Bonds were reactionary, particularly the recently buoyant speculative rails.

Further favorable business news, with the steel industry adding to its operations rise, helped support the list. The U. S. Steel unfilled tonnage report at noon, which was expected to show a considerable gain, was another helpful influence.

General Motors was held up by the sweeping rise in its June sales report. Nash also was strong, reflecting the resumption of dividends. Other auto shares were sluggish.

The new rise in railroad traffic was unable to offset profit-taking as a result of their uprush of the last week and the rails were generally lower. Oils continued under pressure. Radio was again taken in huge volume with only fractional changes in price. Leather stocks were marked up in light dealings. Farm stocks were irregular with gains.

Utilities were easy despite widespread tipping of the group in Wall Street quarters.

Trading was again at a furious pace with the high speed ticker 5 minutes behind.

Window Crashes In Central School

Local Police Investigate Mysterious Happening Here Early This Morning

ELLWOOD CITY, July 10.—It took an investigation of Patrolman K. M. Musser and Constable Elmer Friskorn to determine the cause of a broken window in the central school building on Lawrence avenue about two o'clock this morning.

The police had been notified by a passing motorist that there had been a loud crash of glass in the school. The two officers made an immediate investigation and found that a large window on the sixth street side was completely broken. The pane in the top sash was out altogether and the window blind was forced in. The window is located on the first floor. It appeared for a moment that someone was making an effort to burglarize the school. Patrolman Musser, with Constable Friskorn, gained entrance into the building and room and made a complete search. No one was found. Upon making an examination of the window it was discovered that the cords holding the iron weights broke, causing the top window and sash to crash down.

Baby Pawn is Strange Triangle

A strange love triangle was bared in a Newark, N. J., court, when Raymond Park, Jr. (left), his wife and Frank Coffey (right), were arranged on a statutory charge. To provide for their starving and sick child, Ray, 4 (shown with the mother), Mrs. Park arranged with her jobless husband to live with Coffey, a former suitor, as his "adopted wife." When the husband obtained an $8 a week job, and started contributing to baby's support, Mrs. Park secretly saved some of the money and bought husband new clothes. Coffey, angered by these attentions of his "adopted wife" to her husband, bared the pact to police.

Ellport Board
Convenes Saturday

ELLWOOD CITY, July 10.—With all members answering the roll call, the Ellport borough school board convened at the regular July meeting Saturday night in the Bend schoolhouse and transacted a number of important matters.

Charles McElwain, the tax collector, made an unusually large tax return for the month of June and reported that about 45% of the total face value of the tax duplicate had been collected and he also made a large return on the 1931-92 unpaid taxes which had been collected during the past month.

The tax collector presented an exoneration list amounting to about $1,500 for personal taxes, which was only partially accepted by the directors, who agreed that any person employed or having another source of income would be compelled to pay this tax, which is an assessment of $5 per person on all property owners.

The board accepted the personal bond of Mr. McElwain for the 1933-34 year and it was decided that he should be paid four per cent of all the taxes collected as a commission for his services at the end of each month as the returns were accepted by the board.

Question Of Backwater At
Lakewood Beach Dam Is Involved In Case

In the case of O. M. Bilger and O. R. Fink against Hermine Rung, growing out of a dispute over the ownership of some land at Lakewood beach in Hickory township, Judge James A. Chambers handed an opinion at court today, in which he enjoined Mrs. Rung from allowing water from the dam at Lakewood to inundate the land of plaintiff.

This case has been before the court for some time. Plaintiffs own a couple of lots fronting on the East Brook to East Brook station road. It was claimed that the height of the dam was raised one foot, and this backed the water over land of plaintiffs. Defendant denied this and the question of the actual property lines became involved. Surveys made seemed to indicate that the contention of plaintiffs was right. It is understood that a wall has been built to keep the water from plaintiffs' land, so that there is not likely to be any further trouble.

Two Brothers Are Dead By Stabbing Near Uniontown

Brother-In-Law Of Victims
Held By Police For Double Killing With Bread Knife

FAMILY FEUD HAS TRAGIC ENDING

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 10.—Two brothers were dead and their alleged assailant today although suffering from a serious knife wound following a bloody battle for possession of a bread knife at Grays Landing, near here.

The dead are Charles Whyel, 23, and his brother George, 35. Harry Duggan, 25, the latter's brother-in-law, is charged with the dual slaying. Guards were to remove him to Uniontown hospital for treatment today.

Family Argument.
Police were told there had been differences between the Duggan and Whyel families for several months due in part to the marriage of George to Nettie Duggan.

Police reconstructed the battle by saying harsh words had passed between the men previous to the fatal quarrel. Duggan departed in a rage and returned with the bread knife. He jammed the blade into a porch railing and shouted:

"There is it; let the best man get it."

The trio lunged for the weapon. Duggan reached it first and wrestled with the others for possession. In the scuffle, both brothers were wounded many times.

Fatal Stabbing.
Charles freed himself from the melee and dashed for the street. He collapsed as he fled down the steps. His body was found at the foot of the stairs in a pool of blood.

George, his back slashed by the 18-inch weapon, tried to escape. As he ran down the road for aid, according to the police version of the tragic scuffle, George was attacked by Duggan a second time. Duggan is said to have leaped upon the brother's back, sinking the blade to the hilt. The knife was wrested from his grasp as it pierced the victim's heart.

Rockefeller At 94 Must Have His Daily Sunshine

One Of World's Richest Men At "Summer Time" Of Life, Likes To Stay In Florida

(International News Service)
TARRYTOWN, N. Y., July 10.—John D. Rockefeller Sr. today is "in the summer" of life.

He declared so to friends and neighbors of this community after attending church services at the Pocantico Hills Union Chapel, as he acknowledged congratulations upon his 94th birthday, celebrated Saturday.

"I've reached the summer time of life," the aged millionaire said as he posed for photographers. "I want to be where there is summer time all the time. That's why I spend so much time in Florida, more in Lakewood and so little in Pocantico."

Rockefeller protested when cameramen asked him to smile.

"Smile," he repeated in a gently reproving tone, "don't say that. Just snap your picture. Remember I'm an old man and if I smiled people would think I were pretending. I can't smile."

The congregation and the photographers joined in a laugh—and Mr. Rockefeller smiled genially as cameras snapped.

BURNS HEALED Without A Scar

"My sister was burned last winter when putting coal oil on a deadened fire and the flames burst out into her face. We used nothing but San-Cura Ointment and in almost an incredibly short time her face was perfectly healed without a scar. It is the finest thing for burns that I have ever seen. Have also used it for other things. Just lately an infected toe and shortly it was healed."

—Hattie S. Pitts, 18 Iowa Circle, Washington, D. C., Try San-Cura for Bruises, Cuts, Frost Bite, Insect Stings, Boils, Sores, Sunburn, Piles and Eczema. It relieves the pain and is antiseptic and healing. It's a medicated chest in itself—a little family physician that is ever a demand. 35c and 60c a jar at Drug Stores.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Maybe it's a sign of an early winter or a late summer, or a sign of rain on the roof or something. Anyway we heard the first whip-poor-will Sunday evening, a lone tooter he was but a brave one. It may not be the season for the w. p. w.'s to be out at dusk, but this one did. Just at dusk.

The experts tell me that whip-poor-wills do not begin their calls until later in the summer, that you never hear them at this time, but this one may have been one of the early birds out looking for worms. Whatever excuse he had for his mournful solo last night out along the Slippery Rock, he was pouring it out. And nobody answered but a tree frog and two screech owls.

The snake experts are getting together now, what with snake stories and all that sort of thing beginning to appear. Chapter number one of the Society for the Dissemination of Snake Stories met in police station late last night with the members all primed for the first meeting of the season.

Cy Horner explained the difference in size, color and disposition between a rattler and a copperhead, both of which were once common to Lawrence county. There are few of either left now he asserts. A few copperheads down along the Concoquenessing, and occasionally a rattler find its way into the county but not often.

All of which is jake with Lew Reebble who doesn't like snakes beginning with the garter variety and ending with boa constrictors. With Lew a snake is a snake, whether it is in the grass or in a cage. If they stay away from him in large numbers, that also is all right.

Also heard of some wild bass last night. Harry Lach is showing a number of wounds caused by the horns of a bass. On the back of his hands are punctures which he got from them on the French Creek, and it looked to me as though a bass had got crossed with a swordfish, from the wounds.

Some day I'm going to write a book on "What I Don't Know About Fish" and this will get one full chapter. Never knew that bass had long spines along the back with which they will perforate you if you don't watch out. Lach spent a week up on the French Creek and got the limit every day, or nearly the limit.

Apparently the bass got mad about something and proceeded to hit him head on. All of which should be a lesson to you. Never got a bass mad before you get him to the frying pan.

The Shriners must have been having a picnic or something yesterday. About noon Washington street was filled with a lot of cars bearing gentlemen wearing red fezzes. Most of the cars were Ohio cars and they were headed east.

Got a note from a friend in Milwaukee, Wis., Saturday containing a long clipping from the Milwaukee Examiner concerning Had Haid. According to the clipping Manager Lew Fonseca of the White Sox is all agog and agitated over being able to get Haid from the Seattle Club.

Knights Plan For Annual Retreat

Haid is the kind of athlete who deserves success in a large way before he retires from organized baseball. No manager ever had to fine him for breaking the rules, no manager ever found him out of condition due to parting the night before. Steady, willing and serious, Haid has stayed up around the top in baseball because he takes his job seriously.

Plans of the Knights of St. Vitus for their annual retreat at St. Fidelis Seminary at Herman, Pa., on July 27-30 are maturing in a very satisfactory manner and it is the hope of Jacob DeFonso, chairman of the registration committee, to exceed former years, when St. Vitus parish had the record in the matter of attendance at these events at St. Fidelis.

At the present time, twenty-four members of the Knights of St. Vitus and young men of St. Vitus Parish have registered. Quite a number more are expected to register before the time of the retreat arrives.

The Knights of St. Vitus are planning to equip a mushball and baseball team from among those attending, to participate in the recreation hours activities. The local group will also furnish the entertainment on the Saturday evening of the retreat and the choir of St. Vitus church will sing Perosi's Mass at the services on the Sunday morning of the retreat at the seminary.

More than five hundred persons enjoyed a church service in the cool of Cascade Park Sunday evening when the second open air meeting, sponsored by the New Castle Ministerial Association was held.

Gold Miners Are Trapped In Deep Mine In Brazil

Deepest Gold Mine In World Traps Miners, Fear None Will Be Found Alive

(International News Service)

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 10.—The Morro Velho mine, deepest gold mine in the world and one of the oldest active workings today, still held the fate of many miners imprisoned by a cave-in yesterday.

Many were believed to have been killed outright, while rescue workers doubted that any left alive at the time of the cave-in would be able to survive until aid reached them.

The men were entombed more than 3,000 feet below the surface, about half way down the 6,500-foot mine.

DENY REPORT FACTOR HELD

Police Deny "Jake The Barber" In Custody At Chicago Police Station

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 10.—The strange case of the disappearance of John "Jake the Barber" Factor entered its 10th day with relatives frankly admitting their alarm and declaring they "were crazed by the suspense."

They were electrified by the report which circulated through detective bureau headquarters that the millionaire stock market operator had been picked up at an outlying police station and was being held incognito.

Hope died, however, when a careful check of the distant precincts proved the rumor false. Authorities at headquarters also denied that the ex-barber had been found.
